

Down river

Karen Harper

On the verge of abandoning everything to be with the man she should have married, Lisa Vaughn is attacked and thrown into the Wild River. Unable to lose Lisa again, Mitch Braxton embarks on a desperate search that takes him miles down river--and into the line of fire.

Suspense Crime HAR

Shattered

Karen Robards

Lisa takes the first position she can find: research assistant to DA Scott Buchanan. Scott is as disagreeable as he is sexy. While reviewing cold cases in the courthouse, a particularly thick manila envelope draws Lisa's attention. The details of the case are engrossing: An entire family disappeared more than twenty-eight years ago. Except that's not all: The mother in the photo could have been Lisa's twin, and the toddler in the picture bears an uncanny resemblance to Lisa herself. Before Lisa can learn more about her past, a series of catastrophes strike close to home. Lisa confides in Scott, and their relationship develops into something completely different. Together they unravel a terrifying web of criminal connections that could destroy the very fabric of Lisa's life-if she lives long enough, that is.

In harm's way

Irene Hannon

Sensitive and artistic piano instructor Rachel Sutton happens upon a Raggedy Ann doll buried in the snow of a parking lot. What happens when Rachel picks up this doll shocks and disturbs her, so much so, she tells her story to FBI agent Nick Bradley. Initially nonplussed by her account, Nick is unable to shake a persistent feeling that Rachel is for real and not some psychic wanna-be. Quickly, the report of a missing baby is linked with the doll, as are secrets surrounding Rachel's past. Both Nick and Rachel develop a mutual respect and affection for one another as they piece together the clues behind an ever-climactic mystery.
